Parent Newsletter

From the Principal's Desk

Today you will receive your student's 3rd quarter progress report, which serves as a snapshot of child's work since returning from Christmas break. It is imperative to note that every assignment, classwork or homework, has a significant impact on grades. We continue to emphasize the importance of completing nightly homework assignments, reading for upcoming tests, and reviewing spelling and vocab words every day. Parents, please make sure you are checking your student's assignment book and challenging him/her to complete work to the best one's ability and in its entirety. Read twenty minutes per night. Double check math work. Reread written assignments aloud to make sure they are correct. Use complete sentences when answering all questions. Their extra attention to detail will result in greater comprehension and, ultimately, higher grades.

Please do not hesitate to contact teachers or myself with any questions/concerns. Also, please note P-T-S Conferences are scheduled for the end of 3rd quarter, however one-on-one meetings may be set for any time.
